Review Highlights - "Delish, unusual" dishes based on "seasonal" "local ingredients" emerge from a "wood-burning oven" at this affordable New American set in a "restored" bi-level midcentury Central Phoenix building, whose "cool design" includes a "fabulous open-air bar" (the locus of "inventive cocktails"); there's a "pleasant social vibe" here thanks to the "engaging staff" and "first-rate people-watching."
